

Summer 2010

We've improved the facilities ...

The design studio now has 8Mb broadband and multimedia PC's for research and a new 32" flat screen monitor on the wall has replaced the trusty overhead projector!

We've taken delivery of a Platen press so that students can experience both press and vacuum bag veneering.

We've also expanded to create a separate work bench room, next to the machine shop. And we've built new European style benches (with dogs and tail vices) for the new intake of September students.

New Courses ...

We're offering 2 more professional shorter courses this year; over 3 months and 6 months. See our website for details of when they start.

Guest Lecturers ...

Sean Feeney will be joining us to give a presentation in the Autumn Term. Sean is a qualified cabinet-maker; he holds six prestigious Craft Guild Marks and has been a Liveryman of the Worshipful Company of Furniture Makers since 2004. He has also been on the judging panel of the Bespoke Guild Mark; a man worth listening to ...

We've also just signed up Jason Heap, Homes & Gardens 2009 "Young Designer of the Year" to give a guest lecture during the Spring Term.

Celebration of Craftsmanship ...

This year the School is very pleased to be part-sponsoring a winner's prize at the Celebration of Craftsmanship. As we're only 15 miles away from Cheltenham, we'll also be around and about throughout the exhibition, so do look out for us. We'll be happy to discuss courses; our information is located by the foyer voting box.
